THE SOLEMNITY OF THE MOST HOLY TRINITY YEAR B | MAY 26, 2024

“...BUT THE HEART IS GOOD.”

Last week, Pope Francis gave an interview with CBS anchor Norah O’Donnell, covering a wide range of topics including peacemaking, the safety of children, the dangers of ideology, the blessing of same-sex unions (or rather, as he corrected, persons), and the possibility of hope in a divided world. Fans of the Holy Father will appreciate the warmth and likable energy that he brings, even as he is often relegated to a wheelchair. Detractors from either side of such contentious issues as same-sex marriage and surrogate pregnancy may wish that he came down more clearly on one side or the other.

Yet as he concluded, Pope Francis stresses the universality of the Gospel, a message that resonates this weekend in the Sunday readings for the Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity. As the Spirit is sent forth upon the Apostles, so is God always present with his people, until the end of the age, that is, until there is no separation at all in the redemption of all things. This universality that marks our Catholic faith is characterized by openness, as Pope Francis reminds us:

“You have to be open to everything. The Church is like that: Everyone, everyone, everyone. ‘That so-and-so is a sinner...?’ Me too, I am a sinner. Everyone! The Gospel is for everyone. If the Church places a customs officer at the door, that is no longer the church of Christ. Everyone.”

“People want to live. People forge ahead. And people are fundamentally good. We are all fundamentally good. Yes, there are some rogues and sinners, but the heart is good.”

The young adults spent their Bible Study time on Monday night discussing their responses to the interview. It was a rich time of sharing and processing in a safe space. Perhaps this interview can be a way for you and your loved ones to engage with the Church in our world today. If you have the chance to watch the interview, what stands out to you about Pope Francis’ words? How do you feel God calling you to be a witness of the Gospel, which is for everyone?

-Karl A. Gurney
Director of Liturgy
